

Chris Bredenhann
Partner / Director
PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC)

Chris leads the PwC Africa Oil & Gas Advisory practice and the PwC South Africa Energy practice. He supports clients across the entire oil & gas value chain and in the energy sector. He and his teams support and deliver strategy design, capital programmes, operations improvement, supply chain improvement, market entry, feasibility studies and transaction advisory services.

He has nearly 30 years of experience in professional services and has held various roles in industry leadership, business development, client relationship management, proposal management and project controls.

Chris is a regular speaker on the oil & gas industry in Africa, and publishes and contributes to thought leadership pieces giving insight into the energy industry across Africa.

Chris holds an MBA in Oil and Gas management from the Robert Gordon University (UK) and is a qualified chartered accountant.