

Dudley Baylis
Director
Bridge Capital Refco

Dudley is a Director at Bridge Capital where he is responsible for innovative financing structure for energy infrastructure implementation. He has a personal commitment to find ways to catalyze investment in clean energy power capacity. In the last 30 years, he has been a derivatives and commodities trader, miner, project manager, builder, farmer, engineer, property developer, quantity surveyor, project financier and business systems analyst. Since 2003 he has been dedicated to the problem of climate change and the role that energy systems can play in alleviating or mitigating its effects and he believes that finance is the core issue that needs to be resolved.
