ENERGY FOR ALL

Currently in South Africa there is heated debate about the technology choices for future electricity supply. Nuclear, Coal, Gas, Wind and Solar are all contenders. The debate however seems to favour one or two options to the exclusion of the others. Is this sensible, or is our energy system and the future requirement such that we need a combination of all options?

The panel will seek to highlight the key features of each technology and whether there is a role for each so as to collectively ensure that we have "Energy for All".

PANEL MEMBERS: Dr Chris Cooper, Independent Consultant - CV, Brian Day, Clean Energy Africa - CV, Knox Msebenzi, Nuclear Industry Association of South Africa (NIASA) - CV, Mohsin Seedat, South African Gas Development Company SOC (Ltd) / iGas - CV
