Founder and CEO

Fibon Energy

Avesh is the Founder and CEO of Fibon Energy. Fibon Energy develops renewable energy projects with a current focus on a new asset class related to small scale embedded generation. Fibon Energy is developing and rolling-out portfolios of rooftop Solar PV projects for the commercial and industrial sectors in South Africa.

Prior to founding Fibon Energy, Avesh worked in Corporate Law at Webber Wentzel (Linklaters). In 2016, Avesh was selected as a Mail and Guardian Top 100 South African.

In 2017, Avesh was recognised as a Future Energy Leader (FEL) by the World Energy Council (WEC) and was chosen to participate in the FEL-100 Programme, a global community of young professionals whom are committed to shaping the global energy future. As a FEL member, Avesh participated in the WEC's 2017 Issues Survey.

Avesh recently completed the Senior Leadership Africa Program at Harvard Business School and is committed to improving energy access in Africa.
